

What is the Purpose of the Postsecondary Transition Plan (PTP)?

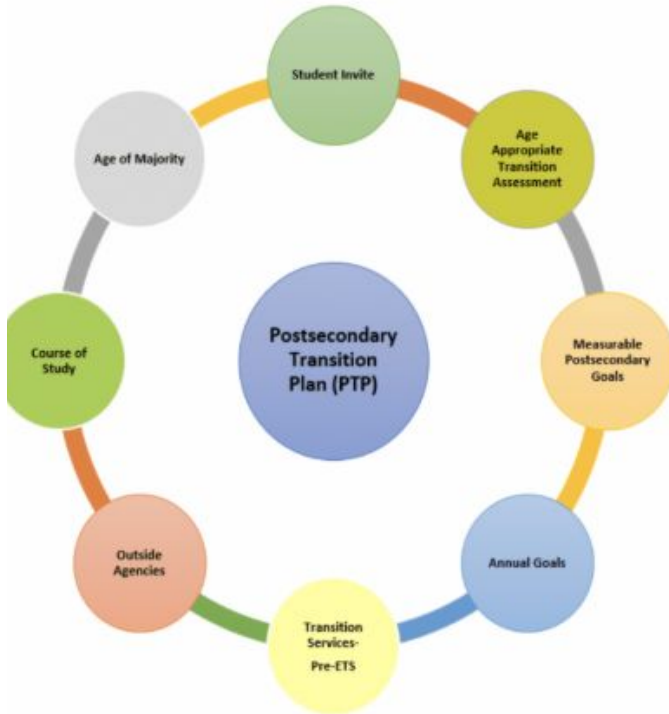

Shana Ratzburg
Transition Improvement Grant

What is the PTP

What is the PTP?

The PTP is a part of the IEP which focuses on transition. A PTP is written with the IEP team, which includes the student, when a student is 13 turning 14 during the timeframe of their IEP. There are 8 components to the PTP. They include:

- Student Invite
- Age Appropriate Transition Assessment
- Measurable Postsecondary Goals
- Annual Goals
- Transition Services/Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS)
- Outside Agencies
- Course of Study
- Age of Majority

True Purpose of the PTP: Student-Centered

- Students identify a vision for their future
- Student's voice is included
- Student's transition services/courses align with their future goals

Postsecondary Goals: Defining the Destination

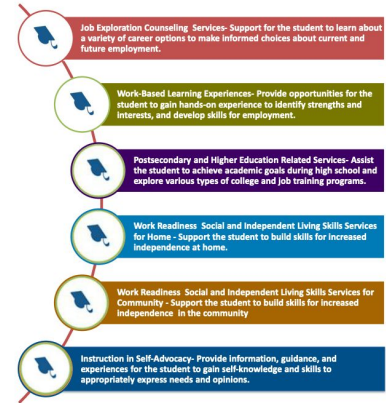

“What will the student do after high school?”

These goals must address:

- Education or training
- Employment
- Independent living (when appropriate)

Transition Services: How We Get Them There

- Job Exploration Counseling Services
- Work-Based Learning Experience
- Postsecondary & Higher Education Related Services
- Work Readiness Social and Independent Living Skills Services for Home
- Work Readiness Social and Independent Living Skills Services for Community
- Instruction in Self-Advocacy

Course of Study: Aligning to the Future

The classes a student takes now and in the coming years

Why the PTP Matters to Families

Why the PTP Matters to Educators

Why the PTP Matters to Transition Partners

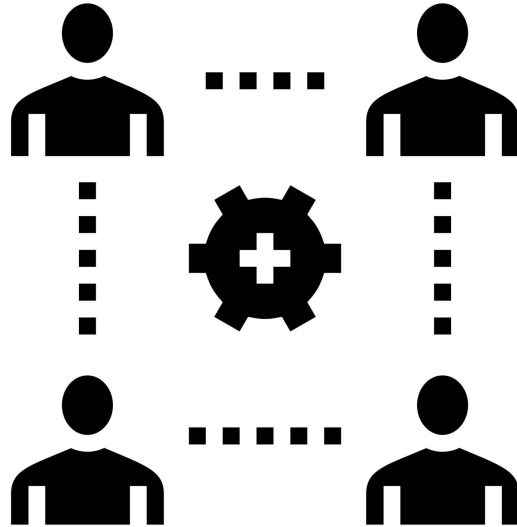

WiTransition App

Demo Link

Shared Ownership: Bringing Us All Together

Closing

Goal is successful transition.

Any Questions

Contact Us

<https://witig.org/contact/>